

Working with the Public in the Digital Era

Pamela S. Wright
Chief Innovation Officer

“Our commitment to openness means more than simply informing the American people about how decisions are made. It means recognizing that Government does not have all the answers, and that public officials need to draw on what citizens know.”

Harriet Davis being duly sworn deposes and says that she is the same Harriet Davis named and described in claim for Widow's Pension No 449,592 filed under act of June 27, 1890. That the correct name of her late husband was Nelson Davis. He was born in Slavery, his Master's surname being Charles. Nelson was known and called while in Slavery, as Nelson Charles after the surname of his Master. The said Nelson Davis who also went by the name of Nelson Charles escaped from his Master and Slavery after he was grown up, and some time before the late war of the rebellion, and came North, still holding and known under the name of Nelson Charles. He was Enrolled (Drafted, she thinks), Served, and discharged under the name of Nelson Charles. When he came to Auburn, N. Y. to live (after his discharge) in or about 1866 or Early in 1867 he was known and recognized both as Nelson Charles and Nelson Davis.
